

Santander Universities

As part of Santander's sponsorship of the UEFA Champions League, the University of Aberdeen's strategic partner, Santander Universities, is organising an outward mobility trip for a small number of female footballer players. We are pleased that the University of Aberdeen and Santander Universities are sending Eilidh Byer the AU Women's Football Captain to Barcelona to take part in an exclusive programme of events, tours and training which also includes the opportunity to benefit from a training session with Chapi Ferrer, professional football coach and ex-player of both FC Barcelona and Chelsea FC. The objective of the trip will be to promote women in football and the benefits that football can bring to wider society. It will also be to promote female leadership both in and out of football, and to provide students with an outward mobility experience.
