

Professor Phillip Hellwege

Phillip Hellwege is Professor for Private Law, Business Law, and Legal History at the University of Augsburg. He studied law at the Universities of Regensburg, Aberdeen, and Oxford. He completed his doctorate in Regensburg, and wrote his so-called Habilitation at the Max-Planck-Institute for comparative and international private law in Hamburg. Currently, he is undertaking a research project on the comparative legal history of insurance law in Europe which is funded by the European Research Council.